EXPLANATORY NOTES

This Act amends the Financial Administration Act, the Tax Administration Act, the Public Administration Act and the Act respecting the Québec sales tax in order to introduce changes to the Québec tax system that are to be applicable in 2013 and were announced in Information Bulletin 2012-4 published on 31 May 2012. These changes are pursuant to undertakings to harmonize the Québec tax system with the federal tax system and include

(1) the removal of the goods and services tax (GST) from the Québec sales tax (QST) base; to ensure that that change will not have an impact on public finances, the QST is increased by 0.475% and its effective rate thus maintained at 9.975%;

(2) the exemption of financial services;

(3) the replacement of the existing mechanism exempting the Gouvernement du Québec and some of its mandataries from payment of the QST by a QST payment and rebate mechanism;

(4) the presumption that the supply of a property that has not been released by Customs is deemed to be made outside Québec; and

(5) the optional registration under the Québec sales tax of a non-resident of Québec who resides in Canada.

The Act respecting the Agence du revenu du Québec is also amended to transfer part of the Accumulated Sick Leave Fund to the Agence du revenu du Québec.

In addition, the Tobacco Tax Act, the Tax Administration Act and the Regulation respecting the application of the Tobacco Tax Act are amended to increase certain fines, give inspectors appointed under the Tobacco Act oversight powers in retail sale outlets with respect to the identification of tobacco products required under the Tobacco Tax Act, implement a new tobacco products identification scheme, enhance the mechanism for the rapid destruction of exhibits seized, enhance the evidence preservation mechanism, and enable police officers, like employees of the Agence du revenu du Québec, to obtain an authorization from the court to implement a special investigative method.

The Fuel Tax Act, the Act respecting the Ministère des Transports and the Transport Act are also amended to increase the fuel tax rate applicable in the Gaspésie-Îles-de-la-Madeleine administrative region and to provide for the payment of a portion of the fuel tax collected in a given area into the Land Transportation Network Fund to finance measures relating to public transit in that area.

Lastly, this Act amends other legislation to make various technical amendments as well as consequential and terminology-related amendments.

The election referred to in the first paragraph in respect of a fiscal year of the person ceases to have effect at the beginning of the fiscal year and is deemed never to have been made for the purposes of this Title if, under subsection 30 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act, the election ceases to have effect at the beginning of the fiscal year and is deemed never to have been made for the purposes of Part IX of that Act.

“42.0.15. If a financial institution (other than a qualifying institution) has not made the election referred to in section 42.0.14 in respect of any of its fiscal years, the financial institution shall use a specified method to determine for the fiscal year the operative extent and the procurative extent of each of its non-attributable inputs.

Despite the first paragraph, if a financial institution (other than a qualifying institution) has not made the election referred to in section 42.0.14 in respect of any of its fiscal years and no specified method applies during the fiscal year to a particular non-attributable input of the financial institution, the financial institution shall use another attribution method to determine for the fiscal year the operative extent and the procurative extent of the particular non-attributable input.

The specified method used by a financial institution in accordance with the first paragraph, or the other attribution method used by the financial institution in accordance with the second paragraph, to determine the operative extent and the procurative extent of a non-attributable input for any of its fiscal years must be the same as that used, if applicable, by the financial institution for the fiscal year in respect of the non-attributable input in accordance with subsection 10 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15) or subsection 11 of that section, as the case may be.

“42.0.16. If a financial institution (other than a qualifying institution) has not made the election referred to in section 42.0.14 in respect of any of its fiscal years, the financial institution shall use a direct attribution method to determine for the fiscal year the operative extent and the procurative extent of each of its direct inputs.

Despite the first paragraph, if a financial institution (other than a qualifying institution) has not made the election referred to in section 42.0.14 in respect of any of its fiscal years and no direct attribution method applies during the fiscal year to a particular direct input of the financial institution, the financial institution shall use another attribution method to determine in the most direct manner for the fiscal year the operative extent and the procurative extent of the particular direct input.

The direct attribution method used by a financial institution in accordance with the first paragraph, or the other attribution method used by the financial institution in accordance with the second paragraph, to determine the operative extent and the procurative extent of a direct input for any of its fiscal years must be the same as that used, if applicable, by the financial institution for the fiscal year in respect of the direct input in accordance with subsection 12 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15) or subsection 13 of that section, as the case may be.

“42.0.17. A financial institution shall use a specified method to determine for any of its fiscal years the operative extent and the procurative extent of each of its excluded inputs.

Despite the first paragraph, if no specified method applies during any of the fiscal years of a financial institution to a particular excluded input of the financial institution, the financial institution shall use another attribution method to determine for the fiscal year the operative extent and the procurative extent of the particular excluded input.

The specified method used by a financial institution in accordance with the first paragraph, or the other attribution method used by the financial institution in accordance with the second paragraph, to determine the operative extent and the procurative extent of an excluded input for any of its fiscal years must be the same as that used, if applicable, by the financial institution for the fiscal year in respect of the excluded input in accordance with subsection 14 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15) or subsection 15 of that section, as the case may be.

“42.0.18. Any method that a financial institution is required in accordance with any of sections 42.0.15 to 42.0.17 to use in respect of any of its fiscal years must be

- (1) fair and reasonable;
- (2) used consistently by the financial institution throughout the fiscal year; and
- (3) subject to section 42.0.19, determined by the financial institution no later than the day on which the financial institution is required to file the return provided for in Division IV of Chapter VIII for the first reporting period in the fiscal year.

“42.0.19. Any method used by a financial institution in accordance with any of sections 42.0.15 to 42.0.17 in respect of any of its fiscal years may not, after the day on which the financial institution is required to file the return provided for in Division IV of Chapter VIII for the first reporting period in the fiscal year, be altered or substituted with another method for the fiscal year, unless the Minister consents to the alteration or substitution.

Where the Minister of National Revenue consents, in accordance with subsection 17 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15), that a method used by a financial institution for any of its fiscal years be altered or substituted with another method for the fiscal year, the Minister is deemed to consent to the alteration or substitution.

“42.0.20. Where, in accordance with subsection 20 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15), the Minister of National Revenue has authorized the use of particular methods in respect of the fiscal year of a person, the following rules apply:

(1) to determine the operative extent and the procurative extent of each of the person’s business inputs, the particular methods must be used consistently by the person throughout the fiscal year and as specified in the application filed for that purpose with the Minister of National Revenue under subsection 18 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act; and

(2) sections 42.0.12 to 42.0.17 do not apply for the fiscal year in respect of the person’s business inputs.

The authorization referred to in the first paragraph in respect of a fiscal year of the person ceases to have effect at the beginning of the fiscal year and is deemed never to have been granted for the purposes of this Title if, under subsection 23 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act, the authorization ceases to have effect at the beginning of the fiscal year and is deemed never to have been granted for the purposes of Part IX of that Act.

“42.0.21. Despite sections 42.0.12, 42.0.13 and 42.0.17, where a person has made an election under subsection 27 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15) for a fiscal year to use particular methods described in an application filed by the person under subsection 18 of section 141.02 of that Act to determine the operative extent and the procurative extent of each of the business inputs of the person, and where the conditions of subsections 27 and 28 of section 141.02 of that Act are met, the particular methods must be used for the fiscal period.

The election referred to in the first paragraph in respect of a fiscal year of the person ceases to have effect at the beginning of the fiscal year and is deemed never to have been made for the purposes of this Title if, under subsection 30 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act, the election ceases to be in force at the beginning of the fiscal year and is deemed never to have been made for the purposes of Part IX of that Act.

“42.0.22. For the purposes of an appeal brought by a financial institution under the Tax Administration Act (chapter A-6.002) and pertaining to an assessment under this Title for a reporting period in a fiscal year in respect of an issue relating to the determination, under any of sections 42.0.15 to 42.0.17, 42.0.20 and 42.0.21, of the operative extent or the procurative extent of a business input, the burden of establishing the following facts is on the financial institution:

(1) in the case of the determination of the operative extent or the procurative extent of the business input in accordance with the first paragraph of section 42.0.15 or 42.0.17, the financial institution used a specified method consistently throughout the fiscal year;

(2) in the case of the determination of the operative extent or the procurative extent of the business input in accordance with the second paragraph of section 42.0.15 or 42.0.17, no specified method applied to the business input and the other attribution method used by the financial institution was fair and reasonable and used consistently by the financial institution throughout the fiscal year;

(3) in the case of the determination of the operative extent or the procurative extent of the business input in accordance with the first paragraph of section 42.0.16, the financial institution used a direct attribution method consistently throughout the fiscal year;

(4) in the case of the determination of the operative extent or the procurative extent of the business input in accordance with the second paragraph of section 42.0.16, no direct attribution method applied to the business input and the other attribution method used by the financial institution was fair and reasonable and used consistently by the financial institution throughout the fiscal year;

(5) in the case of the determination of the operative extent or the procurative extent of the business input in accordance with section 42.0.20, the particular methods referred to in that section were used consistently by the financial institution, and as specified in the application referred to in subparagraph 1 of the first paragraph of section 42.0.20, throughout the fiscal year; and

(6) in the case of the determination of the operative extent or the procurative extent of the business input in accordance with section 42.0.21, the particular methods referred to in that section are fair and reasonable, were used consistently by the financial institution, and as specified in the application referred to in the first paragraph of section 42.0.21, throughout the fiscal year, and, where the Minister of National Revenue has provided modifications to those methods under paragraph e of subsection 27 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15), the modified methods are not fair and reasonable for the purposes of that determination.

“42.0.23. If a financial institution is required to use a method in accordance with any of sections 42.0.15 to 42.0.17 in respect of any of its fiscal years, the Minister may, despite that section, at any time, by notice in writing, direct the financial institution to use another method to determine, for the fiscal year or any subsequent fiscal year, the operative extent and the procurative extent of each business input referred to in that section, provided that the other method is fair and reasonable.

If under subsection 32 of section 141.02 of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15) the Minister of National Revenue directed a financial institution to use another method to determine, for a fiscal year, the operative extent and the procurative extent of a business input, the other method must also be used by the financial institution in respect of that business input for the fiscal year, despite sections 42.0.15 to 42.0.17, unless the Minister decides otherwise.

“42.0.24. If a financial institution is required to use another method because of section 42.0.23 in respect of a business input for a fiscal year, the Minister assesses the net tax of the financial institution for a reporting period included in the fiscal year and the financial institution appeals the assessment in respect of an issue relating to the application of that section, the following rules apply:

(1) the burden of proving that the other method is fair and reasonable is on the Minister; and

(2) if a court of last resort determines that the other method is not fair and reasonable, section 42.0.23 may not be applied to require the financial institution to use a particular method for the fiscal year in respect of the business input.”

(2) Subsection 1 applies in respect of a reporting period that begins after 31 December 2012. However, when sections 42.0.10 to 42.0.24 of the Act, enacted by subsection 1, apply in respect of a reporting period that is included in a fiscal year that begins before 1 January 2013 and ends after 31 December 2012, a reference in those sections to a fiscal year is a reference to the part of that fiscal year that does not include a reporting period that begins before 1 January 2013.

47. (1) Section 42.7 of the Act is repealed.

(2) Subsection 1 applies from 1 January 2013.

“44. Where substantially all of the consumption or use for which a person, other than a financial institution, acquired or brought into Québec property or a service is in the course of the person’s commercial activities, all of the consumption or use for which the person acquired or brought the property or service is deemed to be in the course of those activities.

(1) the supply is made under an agreement in writing entered into before 1 January 2012 for the construction, renovation or alteration of, or repair to, an immovable or a ship or other marine vessel; or

(2) the supply is of a property or service that is delivered, performed or made available on a continuous basis by means of a wire, pipeline or other conduit before 1 January 2012.

Where a particular corporation that is not a financial institution is merged or amalgamated with one or more other corporations, in the circumstances described in section 76, to form a new corporation that is both a financial institution and a registrant and movable property that was capital property of the particular corporation becomes, at a particular time, the property of the new corporation as a consequence of the merger or amalgamation, the first paragraph applies to the property as if the new corporation became a financial institution at the particular time.

Where a particular corporation that is not a financial institution is wound up in the circumstances described in section 77, not less than 90% of the issued shares of each class of the capital stock of the corporation were, immediately before the winding-up, owned by another corporation that is both a financial institution and a registrant, and movable property that was capital property of the particular corporation becomes the property of the other corporation as a consequence of the winding-up, the first paragraph applies to the property as if the other corporation became a financial institution at the time of the winding-up.

(2) by replacing subparagraph 2 of the second paragraph by the following subparagraph:

“(2) a contract payment does not include an amount the tax in respect of which was or will be required to be included in determining the net tax of the debtor under the performance bond and is not an amount paid or payable as or on account of tax under this Title, tax under Part IX of the Excise Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter E-15), or a duty, fee or tax payable by the creditor that is prescribed for the purposes of section 52.”

(2) Subsection 1 has effect from 1 January 2013.

99. (1) The Act is amended by inserting the following sections after section 301.4:

“301.5. Except for the purposes of section 301.6, in carrying on the particular construction, the surety is deemed to be making, at the place where the particular supply was made, a taxable supply to which section 68 and Divisions III.0.0.1 and X do not apply and for which the contract payment is deemed to be consideration.

“301.6. For the purpose of determining the extent to which a property or a service is acquired or brought into Québec by a surety for consumption, use or supply in the course of commercial activities of the surety and for the purpose of determining the extent to which the property or service is consumed, used or supplied by the surety in the course of commercial activities of the surety, the carrying on of the particular construction by the surety is deemed not to be for the purpose of making a taxable supply and not to be a commercial activity of the surety.

“301.7. Despite section 301.6, if section 301.5 deems a surety to be making a taxable supply, any property or service (in this division referred to as a “direct input”) that the surety acquires or brings into Québec for consumption, use or supply exclusively and directly in the course of carrying on the particular construction and not for use as capital property of the surety or in improving such a capital property is deemed, except for the purposes of sections 17, 18 to 18.0.3 and 55 and of Division X, to have been acquired or brought into Québec by the surety for consumption, use or supply exclusively in the course of commercial activities of the surety.

“301.8. The input tax refund of a surety in respect of direct inputs is the lesser of

(1) the amount determined in accordance with Chapter V, but for this section, in respect of those inputs; and

(2) either of the following amounts:

(a) where the amount obtained by the following formula exceeds the total of all amounts, each of which would be an input tax refund of the surety in respect of a direct input but for the fact that tax is not payable by the surety in respect of the acquisition or bringing into Québec of the direct input because of section 75 and Division III.0.0.1 or because of the fact that the surety is deemed to have acquired it, or brought it into Québec, for consumption, use or supply exclusively in the course of commercial activities of the surety, that excess amount:

$A \times B$, and

(b) in any other case, zero.

For the purposes of the formula in subparagraph a of subparagraph 2 of the first paragraph,

(1) A is the tax rate specified in the first paragraph of section 16; and

(2) B is the total of all contract payments (other than contract payments that are not in respect of the carrying on of the particular construction).

“301.9. If a person acquires or brings into Québec a property or a service for consumption, use or supply exclusively and directly in the course of construction work that includes the carrying on of a particular construction that is undertaken in full or partial satisfaction of the person’s obligations as a surety and in the course of carrying on other construction activities, the following rules apply for the purposes of this division, of determining the input tax refund and of determining the total amount of all input tax refunds in respect of direct inputs that the person is entitled to claim:

(1) despite section 34, that part (in this section referred to as the “particular construction input”) of the property or service that is for consumption, use or supply in the course of carrying on the particular construction and the remaining part (in this section referred to as the “additional construction input”) of the property or service are each deemed to be a separate property or service that does not form part of the other;

(2) the particular construction input is deemed to have been acquired or brought into Québec, as the case may be, exclusively and directly for use in the course of carrying on the particular construction;

(3) the additional construction input is deemed not to have been acquired or brought into Québec, as the case may be, for consumption, use or supply in the course of carrying on the particular construction;

(4) the tax payable in respect of the supply or bringing into Québec, as the case may be, of the particular construction input is deemed to be equal to the amount determined by the formula

$A \times B$; and

(5) the tax payable in respect of the additional construction input is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph 1 of the second paragraph exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph 4.

For the purposes of the formula in subparagraph 4 of the first paragraph:

(1) A is the tax payable by the person in respect of the supply or bringing into Québec, as the case may be, of the property or service, determined without reference to this section; and

(2) B is the extent (expressed as a percentage) to which the property or service was acquired or brought into Québec, as the case may be, for consumption, use or supply in the course of carrying on the particular construction.”

(2) Subsection 1 applies in respect of a person who, after 31 December 2012, begins to carry on a particular construction in full or partial satisfaction of the person’s obligations under a performance bond.

A document evidencing an election made under the first paragraph must be filed with the Minister in the manner determined by the Minister on or before the day the insurer is required to file a return under Division IV of Chapter VIII for a reporting period of the insurer in which the insurer pays or credits a rebate under section 402.23 to or in favour of the segregated fund.

Where a person becomes a selected listed financial institution in a reporting period that ends in a particular fiscal year, the interim net tax of the person for each reporting period included in the fiscal year is the amount that would be the person’s net tax for the reporting period if subparagraph 3 of the second paragraph of section 433.16 were read as follows:

“(3) C is the percentage that would be applicable to the financial institution as regards Québec for the preceding reporting period if it were determined in accordance with the regulation made under the Excise Tax Act for the purposes of subsection 2.2 of section 228 of that Act taking the following assumptions into account:

(1) calculate in the return the net tax of the person for the reporting period;

(2) on or before the day on which the person is required to file the return, remit to the Minister

(a) the positive amount, if applicable, of the net tax of the person for the reporting period, or

(b) where the person claimed an interim net tax refund for the reporting period in accordance with section 437.4, the amount by which the interim net tax refund for the period exceeds the amount that would be the net tax refund for the period payable to the person under subparagraph 1 of the third paragraph of section 437 if the person had not claimed that interim net tax refund, or, if the person’s net tax for the period is a positive amount, an amount equal to the interim net tax refund for the period; and

(3) report in the return the positive amount paid as or on account of the person’s net tax for the period, in accordance with section 437.2, or the negative amount for which the person claimed an interim net tax refund for the period, in accordance with section 437.4, in the person’s interim return filed under section 470.1 for the period.

“437.4. A person who is a selected listed financial institution may claim the negative amount of its interim net tax, determined in accordance with section 437.1 for the person’s reporting period, as an interim net tax refund for the period payable by the Minister, in the interim return for the period filed under section 470.1, provided it is filed before the last day on which the final return for the period is required to be filed under that section.”

“442. A person may, in prescribed circumstances and subject to prescribed conditions and rules, reduce or offset the tax that is required to be remitted under the second paragraph of sections 437 and 437.3 or paid under section 17, 18, 18.0.1, 437.2 or 438 by that person at any time by the amount of any refund or rebate to which another person may at that time be entitled under this Title.”
